Communist Defense Minister Shows Soviet Russia's Missiles to Elite

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (UPI)—Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky displayed Soviet missile might for the elite of the Communist world today and warned it would "crush" anyone who tried to start a war against Russia.

Several dozen short and medium range rockets as well as some conventional artillery and anti-aircraft rolled across Red Square in a parade marking the 43rd anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

AMONG THE missiles was a 10-foot silver replica of the world-to-air type the Russians said shot down the United States U2 plane over Russia May 1.

The military section of the parade took only about 10 minutes of the 45 minute demonstration, making it one of the shortest in the history of these annual celebrations.

PREMIER Nikita S. Khrushchev stood on a reviewing stand atop the Lenin-Stalin Mausoleum flanked by Liu Shao-Chi, chairman (president) of Communist China, and other foreign and Soviet Communist leaders.

Among the guests on hand for the observance was Ernesto (Che) Guevara, president of the National Bank of Cuba and one of Fidel Castro's closest advisers.

FOREIGN diplomats and military attaches were scattered through the crowd but they saw no new weapons. The largest rocket shown was an intermediate range weapon with a range of 500 to 700 miles.

Malinovsky delivered his speech to troops massed in the square just before the march past.

"WE DON'T intend to attack anyone," Malinovsky said. "But if the leaders of imperialism lose their senses and violate the peaceful labor of the Soviet people they will be dealt a crushing retaliatory blow as no other aggressor had ever experienced."

Malinovsky praised Khrushchev's appearances at the United Nations as an indication of the way the Communist world was campaigning for peace.

HE SAID, however, that the Communist "peace policy is running into the opposition of aggressive imperialist forces led by the United States" and thus the Soviet Union was forced to continue building and improving its armed forces.

Khrushchev did not speak but he was to host a reception at the Kremlin later in the day.

YESTERDAY, Soviet president Nikita Khrushchev ridiculed Vice President Richard M. Nixon and President Eisenhower in a speech before 12,000 persons at Moscow's sports palace. He made no mention of Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Clubs Prepare Displays For Organization Week

Inter-Organization Council invites students to study campus organizations during Organization Week, Monday through Friday.

STUDENT organizations will set up displays daily in the lobbies of the Eyring Science Center, Smith Bldg., and Smith Family Living Center.

"This will be a good opportunity for students to examine the different organizations and decide which one they will join," says Gary Mills, IOC executive assistant.

A BOOKLET, "Brigham Young University Student Organizations," will be circulated Monday or Tuesday. "You should carefully note the information each organization has put down and make sure that your grade-point averages qualify you for membership," advises Larry Adams, IOC Planning Committee chairman.

IOC President Klane Forsgren says that information on student organizations is always available in the IOC office in the basement of the Student Service Center.

HERE IS A listing of the organizations which will participate, the day they will have their displays and the location of their displays:

Jennie Jones Boasts Varied Foreign Travels

by Annette Oaks
Daily Universe Reporter

The new head of Women's Housing at Brigham Young University is a "traveler" woman.

MISS JENNIE JONES, a native of Malad, Idaho, has spent a good deal of time outside the confines of the United States boundaries. MISS JONES spent 33 months as a secretary with the U.S. Foreign Service in Italy. On a mission in Switzerland, she was one of two secretaries who took down the proceedings of the Swiss Temple dedication. Prior to joining the BYU staff she taught for two years at the Church College in New Zealand.

"My uncle once said that I must have a strain of kypsy blood in my veins because of my wanderlust," laughed Miss Jones. Miss Jones completed her primary and secondary schooling in Malad, then traveled to Provo where she obtained a B.A. degree in Business Education. Work on her M.A. degree was completed at Stanford University in Personnel and Guidance.

MISS JONES HAS taught at Bear River High School in northern Utah, at the College of Southern Utah in Cedar City, and has filled various secretarial positions.

She enjoys playing the piano and singing and maintains that Hong Kong is the most fascinating and different place that she has visited.

"HONG KONG," stated Miss Jones, "means Beautiful Harbor and it's a shopping wonderland. A woman just goes wild in the town will all the bargains."

Pres. Wilkinsons Reports Rules For Returnees

Special provisions have been made at Brigham Young University to enable returning missionaries and returning servicemen to register in the middle of the current semester, announced President Ernest L. Wilkinson Friday.

Most of the 11 colleges of the university have set up "block" courses for this purpose. By this method some courses can be completed in half a semester by doubling up on class time, explained Pres. Wilkinson.

STUDENTS WILL be limited to nine credit hours, which is a full load for half a semester. This means they will be paying the same amount of work during this period as those who have registered for 18 hours.

Nov. 18 is the date for the special registration. The semester ends Feb. 3, 1967. Only released missionaries and returning servicemen who have been released since Oct. 17 are eligible to register.

STUDENTS wishing to enter this program should write or visit BYU immediately to apply for admission, emphasized Dr. Alma P. Burton, dean of admissions and records.

PORTRAIT PRESENTATION—Mr. Cravy, Mr. Whittrill, Ruel D. Merrill, Mrs. A. B. Ballantyne and Mrs. J. Orval Ellsworth, grandchildren of Marriner Wood Merrill presented the latter's oil portrait to the Helaman Hall which bears his name Saturday, October 5.

Marriner Wood Merrill ...

Family Donates Portrait

An oil portrait of Marriner Wood Merrill was presented to the Helaman Hall bearing his name by family members Saturday.

Ruel D. Merrill, president of the Merrill Family Organization, presented the portrait to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Agasson, Merrill Hall residents. Other Merrill Family officers, all grandchildren of Marriner Merrill, present were Mrs. A. B. Ballantyne and Mrs. J. Orval Ellsworth.

THE PORTRAIT was painted by Alvin Gittings, head of the art department at the University of Utah, Gittings studied the diary of Apostle Merrill, as well as photographs, to understand the character of the man. He used colors harmonious with its setting in the lounge of Merrill Hall.

Marriner Wood Merrill was honored in having this building bear his name because of his many achievements of early Utah business, education and religious life. He came to Utah from New Brunswick, Canada, in 1855, and at the suggestion of President Brigham Young helped settle Richmond, Utah, where he farmed.

WITHIN the span of his life he owned several farms and was in the dairy, milling and merchandising businesses. In 1890 what is now the Sego Milk Co. was established through his leadership.

Merrill had eight wives and 45 children. Because of his belief in polygamy, he had many troubles with the federal government. However, the man was almost as large as the family. He weighed over 300 pounds.

IN 1890 MERRILL was serving simultaneously as temple president, stake president, and apostle. He was president of the Logan temple and the Cache Valley Stake, which then covered parts of western Wyoming, northern Utah, and southeastern Idaho.

His diary, part of which has been published in the book "Marriner Wood Merrill," shows that he attended between ten and 15 meetings each week.

It is estimated that over 250 college degrees have been conferred upon his family members. A family foundation has been established to give any member of the family an opportunity to go to college.

Cats Bow to Wolfpack

by Jack Batchler
Universe Sports Writer
Joech Tally Steven's Cougars succumbed to a strong ground game by New Mexico's as Saturday as they took the wrong end of a 27-15 contest here in Cougar Stadium to a sparse home town crowd which totalled 4,000.

Several times during the contest the Cougars showed a strong attacking force, but defensive unit lacked some of the luster it has previously shown in other contests this season.

After receiving the ball from the kickoff, the Bill Weeks' Wolfpack took the ball to their own 30 yard line to the goal line in a series of ground plays which saw sophomore quarterback Jim Cromartie handing to right half Bob Morgan and Bobby Sanchez, both of whom ate up the yardage almost all during the afternoon.

Brigham carried the ball for the Lobos a total of 20 times and gained 85 yards.

Brigham carried 10 for 63. In a losing cause Eldon Fortie, Bud Belpap and Bill Wright were the workhorses. Both Fortie and Belpap gained respect-ful yardage through the air. Belpap attempted passes and completed three of them for 42 yards.

Brigham Young University's Billy Gifford who went about 100 yards over standing up, ran the ball across for a point.

In this point New Mexico took the kickoff and returned it to put the ball in play near 34. Once again the Lobos ground game, utilizing especially effective defense took over and moved into Cougar territory where a string of quarterback plays took the ball over the one yard line on a Dick Magoffin blocked AT attempt and the score was 13-8 in the Wolfpack.

For an exchange of fumbles, but the Fortie-Belpap quarterback combination to work came up with their second hit Fortie making a good run 17 into the end zone. Eight of this series of plays Belpap to Larry Harrison good for 12 yards when the ad their backs to the wall were faced with a fourth and eight yards to make on. PAT was kicked by Hancock. Score: BYU 15,

In the half the statistics showed Cougars had the edge in the department. Both squads first-downs, but the Cats picked up a total of 180 to the Lobos' 151. Belpap completed three for three pass department and tallying the second half the LARRY HARRISON, Cougar end, goes high in the air to haul down a Bud Belpap pass in the second quarter of Saturday's game with New Mexico. Trying to defend is Lobo Jib Ottmann (31). The Lobos won the game 27-15.

Brighams looked quite strong after moving the ball from their own 30 yard line to the New Mexico 20, but here the offensive mechanism was stalled by the visitors' line, with particular help from Cromartie who worked well both on offense and defense.

Seven plays after the opening of the final stanza Cromartie went across from the one yard mark after the Cougars had made a desperate goal line stand.

With the failure of the running play the score stood at BYU 16, NM 19 and BYU took the ball from the kickoff at their own 3. Bruce Samples ran it back to the 52. Two plays later the visitors once more had the ball, this time it was a Samples fumble which lost the ball for the home crew.

Cromartie, with the aid of his halfbacks moved the ball down to the Y 25 then failed to complete a pass and ball went over. Once again the Cat offense failed to get into gear and had to call upon Ron Jacobson to kick them out of the hole. Nine plays later, fullback Paul Duke went across from the line.

Kittens Win Again 22-8

by Marilyn Curtis
Universe Sports Writer

The undefeated Brigham Young University fresh rolled to a 22-8 victory over Montana on a rain-soaked field, Friday in Provo.

Montana could not move the ball in the first quarter and the Kittens marched 85 yards for the first score of the game.

Perry Ficklin and John Malarie led the march with the longest drive of the day. A pass from Ficklin to Rick Ashmore set up the touchdown and Malarie made the score from the 1 yard line.

Ashmore ran the two point conversion that gave BYU the lead that lasted until late in the first half.

A Kittens fumble gave the Cubs the ball in BYU territory and with 5 seconds left to play in the half, Pete Goray, fullback from New York City, dived over the Kitten line for the TD.

Bill Martin tied the score with the two point run around right end.

The second play of the second half gave the Kittens another score, when Ficklin and Ashmore executed a beautiful 53 yard pass play.

Ficklin ran for the two points and the score stood at 16-8.

Montana threatened once again in the third quarter, but a strong Kitten line held them at bay on the 13 yard line. The rest of the game belonged to the Kittens.

In the fourth period, Les Bunnell, Orem halfback, powered his way from the 10 yard line to chalk up another TD for the Cubs, the final score of the game.

The Kittens stand out as a good all purpose team, not having to depend on individuals to build their strength. Coach Mitchell was able to dip deep into his third and fourth units without endangering the power of the team.
